National Nail Corp. Introduces the STINGER™ CH38 Cap Hammer

Grand Rapids, Michigan, March 1, 2007

A NEW SYSTEM. National Nail Corp., a national distributor of building products for residential construction, is pleased to announce the launch of their latest innovation in cap systems technology - the STINGER CH38 Cap Hammer.

THE NEW STANDARD. The STINGER CH38 is the first airless cap system to deliver the holding power of a cap with the speed and ease of a hammer tacker. It sets the new standard for securing roofing felt and housewrap.

The STINGER CH38 promotes best practice. “Many contractors currently use hammer tackers to secure felt and housewrap to dry-in their homes, using thousands of staples that leave holes that moisture can penetrate,” says Brian Nieber, National Product & Sales Manager – Specialty Products. “Caps help seal out moisture, and because caps provide better holding power, they significantly reduce the risk of blow-offs. That’s why caps are a recommended best practice by many housewrap manufacturers like DuPont.” Caps and staples for the STINGER CH38 Cap Hammer are sold in STINGER StaplePacs that contain 12 rolls of 168 collated caps and 24 strips of 84 staples.

The STINGER CH38 also delivers value. Priced like a hammer tacker, it gets the job done for a fraction of the cost of a pneumatic cap stapler. “That makes the STINGER CH38 the perfect cap delivery system for those contractors who want to promote best practice installation but don’t want the hassle or expense of a hose, compressor, and power requirements associated with a pneumatic tool,” says Nieber.

National Nail Corp. is the leader in cap systems technology. The STINGER CH38 joins the Crossfire® Cap Stapler from Spotnails and the Hitachi® NV50AP3 Cap Nailer, both used for residential roofing and sidewall applications, and the RT2 Revolution® Cap Nailer from National Nail used for covering wood decks in commercial settings.
